

Would YOU like to sing with the

been with us over 20 years. Others who have tried to quit so they can take life a little easier, keep coming back for more. They just can't get enough of our director Glenda Korella's creativity, energy, and wicked sense of humour.

We won't try to kid you. It is hard work learning the parts and memorizing the words. But that's part of the reward. Choral singing keeps you mentally sharp. It also is a wonderful emotional outlet and great way to make new friends. Members offer each other much needed support in times of crises and are there to help you celebrate life's joyous occasions. Last year, two couples who met while choir members, even tied the knot. Anything can happen...

Experience helps (but enthusiasm goes a long way)

We do like our choir members to have some singing experience, preferably in a choir, even if it was another lifetime ago. The ability to read music is advisable, though we do provide tapes of all our music to help you learn. All prospective members are auditioned.

Here's the deal

Our choir rehearses Tuesday evenings from September until our Christmas show the first week of December and again for our spring show from January through April. Cost is $60 per semester.
